Western North Carolina Quilters Guild

10 am, Thursday, June 20, 2019 at Grace Lutheran Church, Hendersonville, NC.

The program will be Lisa Alley, with Bear Hug Quiltworks, lecturing on "What Was She Thinking? - Seeing Through a Judge's Eyes".

Have you ever walked through a judged quilt show (which we all just have!) and wondered why one quilt won a ribbon and another one didn't? During this program, Lisa will walk you through what happens on the judging floor for a quilt show and what the judge looks for in a prize winning quilt.

Upcoming in July will be Sandy Fitzpatrick with Hissyfitz Designs presenting "Amped up Appliqué"

Note from the Scholarship Committee:

Dear Guild members,

We have been given the opportunity to give away a Gammill Classic Plus Limited edition Longarm machine with a 12 foot hydraulic table and overhead light bar. The machine has been well maintained. The machine is in a Flat Rock home and we would like to have it picked up by June 11. We plan to have a lottery for all members. Those interested in the machine should contact Barbara Dexter-Smith by June 5, (barbaradextersmith@gmail.com or 828-884-4184). We will have the drawing on June 6. The winner is responsible for take down, pick up, transportation, re-assembly and all associated costs.

The Scholarship Committee would appreciate a donation by the winner but it is not a requirement.

We would like to first thank Judy Heyward for donating her beautiful quilt, "Pathways Through Nature". The support of Guild Members was outstanding through their purchase of tickets. A special thanks to all who volunteered to sell tickets at the four different venues. The winner of the quilt is Bonnie Kain.

Thanks for making the quilt raffle successful.

May 17-18, has come and gone and thanks to all of you, we DID IT and did it in style. Our Quilt Show 2019 is over and we are happy to announce that it was a success. We do thank each of you who worked a shift, (or many shifts), during our five days of setup, judging and the show. We thank those who made the beautiful quilts which were displayed, contributed gifts for our gift baskets, baked bake goods for "The Kitchen", contributed used books, patterns or magazines, served on our quilt show committee or came just to enjoy the beauty displayed throughout the show area.

Trite but true..."It takes a village" to make something happen. Well, our village made something happen which we should all be proud. Approximately 135 of our WNCQG members worked at the show. Approximately 1,300 visitors and members came through the doors of our show. We made a profit of appropriately $12,000. Approximately 4,500 tickets were sold on our raffle quilt. A final breakdown of all other monies will come later.

Thanks, again, for your time, energy and gifts given to our WNCQG. You are the best!

Carolina Hurricane Quilt Project

Carole Carter, website at: <https://frommycarolinahome.com/>, has started a project to help the hurricane victims from Florence and Michael, along the Carolina coast.

We would like to gather squares in the next month to use them to create a bed-size quilt. Please bring to the next meeting: scrappy darks and scrappy lights in the following sizes: 4.5" and 5.25". Or if you have a large bed size new or slightly used quilt you would like to donate, that is welcome also. Any help you can provide will be greatly appreciated!!!

LIBRARY NEWS

What's new?

Nancy Bruce has generously donated four books to our library. Thank you, Nancy! All of these books would be of interest to art quilters: Connecting Design to Stitch by Sandra Meech; Stitches, Straps and Layers by Maggie Gray; Design Essentials by Lorraine Torrence; Stitchscapes by Jan Beany and Jean Littlejohn.

Used Book Sale at Quilt Show: To clear up a misunderstanding: our quilt show's used book sale was a project of our guild, not a library sale. Thanks to your generous donations, it was very profitable for our guild.

Western North Carolina Quilters Guild Meeting Minutes for May 23, 2019

Bridget O'Malley announced the loss of past member Virginia Brower who died after a short illness. Bridget opened the meeting as the fifth day of recuperation from the "Garden of Quilts" Guild Quilt Show.

Jane G Kennedy & Kathy Grogan expressed their utmost thanks to the membership for their quilts, shifts worked and overall positive support for this huge effort. The steering committee met for months insuring the different aspects of the show were progressing in a timely manner. The addition of used items for sale, raffle baskets and food on site proved to be positive assets. Judy Heyward was recognized for her generous contribution of the raffle quilt that netted $3200. The membership acknowledged the great leadership, coordination and caring provided by Jane and Kathy that resulted in record admissions and profits from the 2019 Quilt Show. Margie and Lynne distributed a list of contributions by local vendors that enhanced the values of the raffle baskets.

Bridget reminded us that the next Board meeting is June 11, Tuesday at 10 am at the Church, room 228. Barbara Dexter-Smith announced that the fabric sale from Grace Glover's estate has netted one thousand dollars for the Scholarship committee. Upcoming programs were presented by Linda Lou Harris. Theresa Tyree stated she was organizing a group for new quilters called Sew in Piece. The business meeting adjourned at 1035am.

After Show and Tell and a short break, Susan Cleveland gave an informative and fun talk entitled "My Eclectic Quilt Pageant". Her workshop was to follow. Secretary, Bonnie Hartel
